This table shows the money you could get back over the next 10 years, under different scenarios, assuming that you invest €100,000. The scenarios shown illustrate how your investment could perform. You can compare them with the scenarios of other products. The scenarios presented are an estimate of future performance based on current projections and evidence from the past on how the value of this investment could vary and are not an exact indicator.

The figures shown include all the costs of the product itself, but may not include all the costs that you pay to your advisor or distributor. The figures do not take into account your personal tax situation, which may also affect how much you get back.

What happens if the IPUT Property Fund is unable to pay out?

You may face a financial loss should the Fund default on its obligations. There is no compensation or guarantee scheme in place which may offset all or any of this loss.

What are the costs?

The Reduction in Yield (RIY) shows what impact the total costs you pay will have on the investment return you might get. The total costs take into account one-off, ongoing and incidental costs.

The amounts shown here are the cumulative costs of the product itself, for three different holding periods. The figures assume you invest €100,000. The figures are estimates and may change in the future.

The person selling you or advising you about this product may charge you other costs. If so, this person will provide you with information about these costs, and show you the impact that all costs will have on your investment over time.

How long should I hold it and can I take my money out early?

Recommended hold period: 10 years

The Fund is a limited liquidity fund and is subject to certain repurchase restrictions as set out in the Prospectus and the Supplement. Certain investments may be difficult or impossible to sell at the time and at the price that the Fund would like. The Fund may have to lower the price to effect a sale, sell other investments instead or forego an investment opportunity, any of which could have a negative effect on fund performance. An exit from the Fund will be dependent on market conditions and there is a risk that the market for the underlying investments may not support an opportunistic sale of the assets for some time.
