

Great things come from good places

Wilton Park is a 600,000 sq ft development by IPUT Real Estate that reimagines the neighbourhood with a focus on community, culture, and sustainability.

IPUT has delivered 20,000 sq ft of purpose built food and beverage space as the focal point of Wilton Park. Each unit is finished to an exceptional standard with seamless access to all services.

The unique park-side setting and public realm lends itself to indoor and outdoor dining with a covered colonnade and new public square.

A new 7 metre high covered street will link the park and Mary Lavin Place to Lad Lane. The street features a coloured glass ceiling by Irish artist, James Earley.

The estate will be centrally managed onsite by IPUT Real Estate to ensure that the quality of finishes, design and operational excellence will be maintained.

We are looking for people who share our ambition to establish an authentic culinary destination with a point of difference. People who are looking for a home in a unique, city centre, park-side location. Wilton Park

Mary Lavin Place

Mary Lavin Place, the first public place in Dublin to be named after an Irish female writer. It will form the core of a new social hub at Wilton Park.

There are numerous unique set pieces across the streetscape including the restored park, a water feature, public art and a new civic square.

Through events, exhibitions and other community projects, we want to bring the neighbourhood together to celebrate our city's heritage and to continue to enrich people's experiences.
